Learning Objectives for Library CE Training Institute

Change the mindset about online learning
Participants will be able to:
- Articulate the distinct advantages of online learning and learn strategies to make effective use of online formats for adult learners
- Promote the advantages of online learning to others
- Define strategies to support and empower learners

Promote collaboration in elearning development and delivery
Participants will be able to:
- Describe benefits of and strategies for collaboration across the CE field
- Identify working groups and devise plans for working together to create learning objects
- Develop strategies for ongoing collaboration for future content creation
- Connect with their organizations to increase coordination of CE providers

Create replicable model(s) for creating library-specific content
Participants will be able to:
- Apply existing knowledge and learn new skills in the use of content creation tools
- Devise pilot models for rapid, cost-effective development of elearning content
- Increase skills with tools to create good quality, platform-agnostic, modular, easily shareable learning objects
- Identify a plan to teach the model to others

Increase the access, reach and impact of library training programs
Participants will be able to:
- Extend the reach of their training efforts via online access
- Incorporate a quality-assurance process in their models
- Select topics that build 21st century library competencies
- Address topics in a way that is nationally relevant