Learn from the pathways that library staff have taken with Wikipedia at oc.lc/oclc-wikilib.

Host a local Wikipedia edit-a-thon for your patrons or colleagues.

Find a Wikipedia article about a notable person from your city. Cite your library resources to fix information gaps.

Search for "five pillars of Wikipedia." Talk to your colleagues about what you learn.

Do you know how many edits have been made to your favorite Wikipedia article? How can you find out?

Post a Facebook poll asking patrons if they know how a Wikipedia article is made.

List three cool historical sites in your city or town. See if they have Wikipedia articles that could be improved.

Create a workshop for teens on how to start a research paper using Wikipedia.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR WIKIPEDIA + LIBRARIES INSPIRATION FINDER

1. Cut out the square to the left.
2. Place your Inspiration Finder print-side down and fold the four corners to meet in the middle.
3. Flip paper over and fold the new corners to meet in the middle.
4. You should still have a square. Fold the square in half to make a rectangle.
5. Place your thumbs and fingers underneath the flaps to operate.

Illustration credit: Wikimedia Commons, public domain, MichaelPhillip. "Wikipedia + Libraries Inspiration Finder" by WebJunction is licensed under CC BY 4.0.
WebJunction builds the knowledge, skills, and confidence of library staff to power strong libraries that are the heart of vibrant communities. A program of OCLC Research, WebJunction is free and welcome for all libraries to use, regardless of size, type, or location.

Since our launch in 2003, WebJunction has helped more than 80,000 library staff build the knowledge, skills, and confidence they need to deliver transformational services to their communities.

Visit webjunction.org to:

- enroll in trainings
- view past webinars and videos
- read articles and news
- learn about our latest projects
- sign up for our e-newsletter
- see how small and rural public libraries + librarians: better together

WHAT IS WEBJUNCTION?

Supercharged Storytimes for All

Learn research-based methods for engaging children in storytime in ways that support literacy.

Small Libraries Create Smart Spaces

See how 15 small and rural public libraries re-imagined and reconfigured their libraries into smart spaces—and see how you can, too.

Wikipedia + Libraries: Better Together

See how libraries are leveraging Wikipedia to better serve their communities. Visit oclc.wikilib for inspiration on how to use Wikipedia at your library.

RECENT PROJECTS

- sign up for our e-newsletter
- learn about our latest projects
- view past webinars and videos
- enroll in trainings
- visit webjunction.org to:

WebJunction is free and welcome for all libraries to use, regardless of size.