Conceptual Framework

- figured worlds via Bartlett & Holland, 2002
- literacy artefacts ("the rub") via Brandt & Clinton, 2002
- literacy events (Heath, 1986)

“The Rub”

- what we understand about one another
- what we misunderstand about one another
- what we learn from one another

There’s an information literacy action going on here as we learn what we NEED to know about one another in order to learn what the answer is to the question, based on how life experience informs our understandings.
“The Rub” = Information Literacy (kinda)

Reference: The Goal

What is the goal of reference that makes it a timeless professional virtue and practice?

- Helping patrons access, learn, and use the information they need
  - Easily
  - Quickly
  - Accurately
    - Regardless of technology
Reference: The Purpose

The Rochester Public Library, MN seeks a dynamic, creative and enthusiastic Reference/Web Librarian who has a passion for technology, teaching, and public services. The successful candidate will possess outstanding customer service skills, superior talent for teaching adults in a classroom setting, the ability to create engaging content for the library's online presence, and exceptional skills for locating and providing information for the public.

Responsibilities of the position include providing reference service to adults at the Reference Desk and online, creating, presenting and evaluating programs for adult learners, exploring and implementing web/mobile technologies, helping to maintain the library's website, provide engaging social media content, and other duties as assigned.

The Reference Division of Rochester Public Library cultivates a desire for knowledge, an interest in creative pursuits, a lifelong love of books and a sense of community. The Reference Division aims to be a destination in the community by providing outstanding library experiences through community engagement, creativity, interactive programs and activities, technology, well-rounded materials collections and excellent information services.

RPL, a division of the City of Rochester, MN, is a very busy downtown library and bookmobile (approximately 600,000 visits per year, over 1.6 million items checked out and the busiest bookmobile in the state of Minnesota). RPL serves the City of Rochester, Olmsted County, and visitors from all over the world.

0 Considerations:
  0 The ALA/RUSA guidelines for reference service are problematic in some areas:
    0 Guidelines do not take diverse cultural norms/nuances into account
      0 Eye contact
      0 Body language
      0 Meeting mainstream American norms with various sub-cultural norms

- Blended reference (Phillips, 2014)
  - Traditional: librarians at the desk
  - Phone: librarians in a call center
  - Roving: librarians greetings patrons, checking in with patrons with technology in-hand
  - Mobile: librarians answering questions via text and social media

- What does it mean to combine all these approaches?
- We’ve become multi-tasking digital librarians ...

What is all boils down to:

- Good, relevant, accurate information service
- Meeting the patron’s information needs
- Igniting the patron’s sense of wonder and respect for their own curiosity, knowledge, and desire for lifelong learning
- Promoting, teaching information literacy practices
- Accepting the multimodal framework for reference services today, which includes:
  - Information literacy models
  - Cultural competency approaches
  - Practitioner Inquiry practices
