AALL Pro Bono Partnerships Special Committee 50 State Survey

This site includes information obtained from interviews with pro bono organization directors regarding collaborating with public law libraries.

Lawyer Referral Services

ABA Lawyer Referral Directory

<http://www.abanet.org/legalservices/lris/directory/>

The directory listings are not complete, in that they are limited to programs that have applied for and obtained ABA approval. The directory also links to state bar association directories, but some of those links don't work properly. State bar associations also approve lawyer referral services, and some lawyer referral services, especially for-profit ones, operate without any approval or oversight mechanism.

Bar Associations

ABA Directory of State and Local Bar Associations (includes national minority bar associations)

<http://www.abanet.org/barserv/stlobar.html>

ABA Inventory of Bar Associations for Lawyers of Color

<http://www.abanet.org/barserv/ibalc/>

These directories do not include other national bar associations and subject-oriented state and local bar associations. The directories are also not complete in their listings, as they are dependent on input from the bar associations themselves.

Public Law Libraries

AALL State, Court, and County Law Libraries Special Interest Section List of Libraries

<http://www.aallnet.org/sis/sccl/membership/libraries.htm>

This site includes not only a list of law libraries that have memberships in this section of AALL, but also a Google Map to a much larger list of law libraries that serve the public, including some not staffed by librarians. That list is a recent addition done through a grant to the San Bernardino County Law Library, which also maintains that list at

State and National Court Websites

The National Center for State Courts List of Court Web Sites

http://www.ncsconline.org/D_kis/info_court_web_sites.html

This list is relatively thorough with regard to court web sites. The list also includes a number of court-related organizations in several categories, but it is not complete.

General Directories by State

LawHelp

<http://www.lawhelp.org/>

Sponsored by ProBonoNet, this site includes materials for every state. At the state LawHelp websites, most contain a directory of up-to-date listings of relevant websites as links. Any collaborative effort should include a look at the LawHelp site for your state.
